New Mexico Climate Champions:

- Is an innovative set of hands-on, NM-focused, and standards-aligned activities.
- Is available in two modules: (1) climate change and water or (2) climate change and energy.
- Empowers students to turn new knowledge into action plans in their school or community.
- Is open to formal and informal educators who work with 5th-12th grade students throughout NM.
- Gives educators an opportunity to work with each other and with scientists to strengthen their content knowledge of climate change in New Mexico.

You will receive:

- $200 stipend (plus additional $100 stipend upon completion of evaluations).
- Small travel stipends for teachers traveling more than 60 miles.
- A kit of supplies valued at more than $500 to conduct inquiry-based activities with your students.
- An opportunity to apply for $4,500 sub-grants to support student action projects in the fall 2017.
- An invitation to the NM Climate Champions Summit in January 2018.

This workshop is supported by a grant to the Asombro Institute from the Environmental Protection Agency.
